V/O: Opening day of big game season. 2013. SFX: Sound of car driving – weather report on radio. Son: Is this the trailhead, Dad? Father: Yep, almost there – you know, I'm not sure what that checkpoint is up ahead. SFX: Car slows down; window goes down. Father: Hey, what's going on, officer? DHS Agent: Sir, by order of the Department of Homeland Security, this is now restricted land. Father: Restricted? I've been hunting around here for twenty years.	HR 1505 would give DHS control over public land within 100 miles of land US border According to the text of HR 1505 as amended, DHS's ability to control federal land within 100 miles of the U.S.'s land borders. [HR 1505 as amended] HR 1505 would give DHS control over public land within 100 miles of land borders, including "nearly the entire northern third" of Montana According to the text of HR 1505 as amended, DHS's ability to control federal land within 100 miles of the U.S.'s land borders. [HR 1505 as amended] According to the Great Falls Tribune, the "controversial" bill "would give the Department of Homeland Security unprecedented authority over federal lands within 100 miles of the United States' border." [Great Falls Tribune, 9/19/11, http://bit.ly/Ad69RS] "The bill would give the secretary of homeland security total operational authority over all federal lands within 100 miles of the U.S. international and maritime borders. [Great Falls Tribune, 9/19/11, http://bit.ly/Ad69RS] Including most of northern third of Montana "In Montana, the law would impact nearly the entire northern third of the state, including Glacier National Park; portions of the Kootenai and Flathead national forests; The Flathead, Blackfeet, Rocky Boy's, Fort Belknap and Fort Peck Indian reservations, the Upper Missouri River Breaks National Monument, the Charles M. Russell National Wildlife Refuge, and tens of thousands of acres of Bureau of Land Management lands." [Great Falls Tribune, 9/19/11, http://bit.ly/Ad69RS]

DHS: Sorry sir. When Congress passed HR1505, they authorized us to build fences and forward operating bases here. You need to turn your truck around.	HR 1505 would give Homeland Security ability to fence off public land Section (2)(b)(1) of HR 1505 gives the Homeland Security Department "immediate access" to federal public lands for: "(A) Construction and maintenance of roads. (B) Construction and maintenance of fences. (C) Use vehicles to patrol. (D) Installation, maintenance, and operation of surveillance equipment and sensors. (E) Use of aircraft. (F) Deployment of temporary tactical infrastructure, including forward operating bases." [HR 1505 as amended] HR 1505 would waive the requirements for public enjoyment of National Parks within 100 miles of a US land border According to the text of HR 1505 as amended, Section 2 (c) (1) states that the "the waiver...of the laws described in paragraph (2)...shall be considered to apply to all land under the jurisdiction of the Secretary of the Interior or the Secretary of Agriculture within 100 miles of the international land borders of the United States." Paragraph 2 (Section 2 (c) (2) lists a large number of laws subject to be waived, including the National Park Organic Act (which established the national park system). The National Park Organic Act established and regulates national parks, prescribing their use for conservation and public enjoyment: The service thus established shall promote and regulate the use of the Federal areas known as national parks, monuments, and reservations hereinafter specified by such means and measures as conform to the fundamental purposes of the said parks, monuments, and reservations, which purpose is to conserve the scenery and the natural and historic objects and the wildlife therein and to provide for the enjoyment of the same in such manner and by such means as will leave them unimpaired for the enjoyment of future generations. [National Park Organic Act, http://bit.ly/HFH1j9] Hence, HR 1505 would waive requirements for conservation and public enjoyment of National Parks within 100 miles of a US land border. You have a problem with it, talk to your Congressman – Rehberg – he sponsored the bill. SFX: Car drives off.	Rehberg was an original cosponsor of HR 1505 and was instrumental in writing its current form Rehberg was an original cosponsor of HR 1505, the "National Security and Federal Lands Protection Act." [HR 1505, Introduced 4/13/11] Rehberg took credit for changes in the bill and was praised for his changes by primary sponsor of the bill According to a press release written by Rehberg, HR 1505 "s was a good bill, and now it's even better." He lauded the House Natural Resources Committee for "including many changes that he proposed" in the amended version approved for floor action by the Committee. The primary sponsor of the bill, Utah Republican Rob Bishop, is quoted in Rehberg's release, praising Rehberg's "insightful recommendations." Said Bishop, "Congressman Rehberg was exceptionally helpful to our efforts to make adjustments and improvements to the bill." [Rehberg press release, 10/5/11]
V/O: To stop yet another federal power grab, speak out before it happens. Dennis Rehberg voted for the Patriot Act and supported Real ID. Now he's pushing HR1505 – giving Homeland Security control over millions of acres in Montana.	Rehberg supported the original Patriot Act. In 2001, Rehberg voted in favor of the Patriot Act, which expanded law enforcement's power to investigate suspected terrorists. Among many provisions, the bill: Allowed disclosure of wiretap information among certain government officials, authorize limited disclosure of secret grand jury information to certain government officials, and authorize the Attorney General to detain foreigners suspected of ties to terrorism; Expanded the number of crimes considered terrorist acts and increases the punishment for committing them; Allowed nationwide jurisdiction for search warrants and electronic surveillance devices, including legal expansion of those devices to e-mail and Internet; Authorized the use of roving wiretaps, in which officials get orders that allow them to tap whatever telephone a person uses instead of one telephone at a time; Relaxed rules to allow the FBI and intelligence officials to share grand jury and wiretap information more easily. The bill passed 357-66 [Vote #398, 10/24/2001; AP, 10/25/01]

Cont.	Rehberg Supported REAL ID Bill Toughening Driver's License Standards In 2005, Rehberg voted in favor of final passage of a bill to virtually bar states from issuing driver's licenses to illegal immigrants, tighten the rules for asylum and close a hole in the border fence between California and Mexico. The bill would require states to verify that any driver's license applicant was residing legally in the U.S. before issuing a license that could be used for purposes of federal identification. That would mean states could issue licenses to illegal immigrants—as 11states now do—but those licenses could not be used to board airplanes in the United States, open bank accounts or enter federal buildings. The legislation would also increase the burden of proof that applicants for asylum must meet and would restrict the right of judges to review decisions by immigration officials at the borders to reject asylum applications. The motion passed 261-161. [Vote #31, 2/10/2005; Los Angeles Times, 2/11/05]
