Requirement that "All communications advocating the success or defeat of a ballot issue must clearly & conspicuously include the attribution 'Paid for by' & list the name of person or persons who made or financed the expenditure MCA 13-35-225. The sign posted on the wooden fence behind KT's Hayloft is the example given. The sign does not specifically say yes or no, but the heart symbol clearly is an affirmation for voting yes on the bond issue. The sign is done in the same manner as the one that is attached to the fence at the school's play ground which does have "Yes For Lolo Kids" on the sign, as well as the four signs that are attached to posts at the entrance to the school's gym.

Complaints must be:

- signed
- notarized
- delivered in person or by certified mail.

The four signs attached to the post at the entrance to Lolo School's gym area being in violation of the 100ft law. Attached is a copy of the school newspaper advising people that they may drop off their ballots at the election box located in the lower gym. This in many people's opinion would be considered a polling place.

FEBRUARY 2014

VOTE FOR WHAT'S IN THE BEST INTEREST OF LOLO'S CHILDREN

In a little over three weeks, Lolo voters will have the opportunity to address critical issues faced by its school and its children via a bond election request for a new K-4 elementary school. The mail ballot election for the $10.5 million bond request begins on February 20th and ends March 12th. Voters may mail their ballots back to the Missoula County election office, drop them off at the election office, or drop them off on March 12th at the school's election box in the lower gym area. If not yet registered to vote, a person may still do so through February 10th. Voter registration forms are available on-line with Missoula County (website), at any of the Lolo School offices, and at the Missoula County Elections office in Missoula.

The critical issues are clearly defined: the safety and security of Lolo's children, inadequate and extremely worn out facilities, and overcrowding that is expected to get much worse in the upcoming years. Representatives throughout the community kept in mind the best interests of children and the most financially responsible approach for Lolo's citizens when they analyzed options and recommended this final proposal. The proposal for the new K-4 elementary school is the most practical, fiscally prudent, long term solution that addresses the challenging aspects of the aforementioned critical issues.

Bond interest rates are at all time lows. Further, the value of the community's tax base has continued to rise for the past 20 years, making for an excellent opportunity for building a new school at a lower than normal cost. The proposed project has been analyzed and designed by community members and parents, educational experts, and design/construction professionals highly respected throughout the

Architectural Rendering of Proposed K-4 School

CONTRARY TO MISLEADING INFORMATION ON THE PROPOSED NEW SCHOOL, THE FACTS ARE...

- ⇒ The new school doesn't duplicate services, taxes, staff, supplies, cafeteria and vehicles.
- ⇒ According to community members and educators, the new school DOES address overcrowding issues by providing safer, increased space to educate and feed children.
- ⇒ A warehouse style building doesn't meet safety and educational needs of students.
